Recruiting Manager
Mckinsey & Company
300 E Randolph St #3100
Chicago, IL 60601

Dear Recruiting Manager:

I am writing in response to your job posting for the Business Analyst position at Mckinsey & Company. I am currently a joint bachelor's and master's student at the University of Michigan majoring in Mechanical Engineering and will be graduating by May 2015. After listening to Steve Hoffman's presentation during the information session, Mckinsey & Company interests me due to its focus on developing its employees and providing them support to pursue their passions.

My interest in management consulting began when I read a book by O'Mahoney and Markham this past summer. From then onwards, I started reading case studies and current news about the industry. Listening to Mckinsey & Company's consultants during the company's information session affirmed my interest in management consulting, hence the application.

With a solid foundation in Mechanical Engineering, coupled with exposure to industry and research in that field, I have completed several projects that require problem-solving and analytics. Particularly, a research project I worked on dealt a lot with data analysis, and needed me to come up with several solutions before it was completed. Also, my leadership role in China Entrepreneur Network has taught me how to identify key problems in the organization management and addressing them in the most efficient way. With these skills, I feel that I could contribute to Mckinsey & Company's success.

I am seeking to balance my academic experiences with a more comprehensive full-time experience in Mckinsey & Company. In turn, through enhanced skills, enthusiasm and bilingual ability, I also desire to make a positive contribution in your company. Enclosed herein is my resume for your review. I welcome an opportunity for an interview at a mutually convenient time to discuss my qualifications. If you have any questions regarding my application, you can contact me at +1-734-834-2103 or send me an email through suffianh@umich.edu. I would be very glad to hear from you.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Hamzah, Mohammad Suffian
